

Legacy Applications — A Case for Restoration?

Nic Holt

Fujitsu

Abstract

Although legacy applications often need attention, it is also the case that "legacy" anything has acquired a bad reputation that (in some cases at least) needs restoration. In this talk I will look at various strategies for large organisations with massive investments in legacy software, processes and systems (in the large), to move forward without necessarily throwing out the baby with the bathwater.