HP—Inventing the Future of Storage

Nora Denzel, Hewlett-Packard

As vice president and general manager of Hewlett-Packard's Network Storage Solutions Organization, Nora Denzel has worldwide responsibility for the development, manufacturing and marketing of the company's complete line of storage products. Ms. Denzel joined HP in August 2000 with more than 17 years' experience in the computer-storage industry. Before joining HP, she held the post of senior vice president of product operations at Legato Systems, where she managed the company's engineering, product management and technical support activities. Ms. Denzel also spent more than 13 years in IBM's storage division, joining in 1984 as a storage management engineer and later serving in various engineering, marketing and executive posts, including worldwide director of IBM's storage-management software products. Among many honors she's received, Ms. Denzel has been named one of the top 20 "Storage Movers and Shakers" by Storage, Inc. magazine.
