We would like to take this opportunity to thank everybody involved with the organization of AAMAS-04. Running a major international conference like AAMAS is a significant undertaking, and this year we have been blessed with an excellent team that has worked together with a strong spirit of cooperation. The local organizers, Simon Parsons and Betsy Sklar, have been simply superb – they’ve worked hard to accommodate all our requests, responded rapidly to our queries, and have been proactive in making sure that everybody has a great conference experience. As if this wasn’t enough, they’ve also handled the conference web site!

Munindar Singh has also done an excellent job with the finances and has enabled us to have a clear picture of what we could and could not do at all stages of the planning. He has been responsible for handling much of the bureaucracy that is inevitably part of running a conference, and we are exceedingly grateful for the professional way in which he has handled this.

As well as the main technical program of the conference, we have assembled a variety of associated events that add to the richness of the AAMAS-04 experience. This includes the workshop program, the tutorial program and the demonstration program and for this we are grateful to Franco Zambonelli, David Parkes, Nicholas Roy and Dieter Fox. They have all done a first rate job. Gal Kaminka has also worked extremely hard on the doctoral mentoring program which will undoubtedly benefit those who participate in it. Relatedly, Ana Bazzan has helped ensure that AAMAS-04 has been well publicized and Paul Scerri and Jose Vidal have done great jobs, respectively, as publications and exhibits chairs. We would also like to thank Francisco Cruz for his active involvement in ensuring the online submission using the ConfMaster system ran so smoothly.

We would also like to thank our sponsors (listed in full elsewhere in this volume), without whose support AAMAS-04 would have been all the poorer. Due to their generosity we have been able to offer a significant student support program (thanks to the excellent organization by Yves Lespérance). This degree of support requires significant work and chasing up and for this we would like to thank our sponsorship co-chairs (Jeff Bradshaw, Mike Luck and Von-Wun Soo).

Finally, we would like to thank the steering committees of the three “owner” conferences for their guidance and advice. In particular, we’d like to thank Les Gasser, Jörg Müller and Mike Wooldridge who acted as effective conduits with these organizations.
